Did You Know?

- ✓ The Department of Defense (DoD) School-Age Total Family Income (TFI) categories and fee ranges have not changed since 2004
- ✓ Many garrisons have not raised their fees for several years

Army School-Age Care is a GREAT value.

The Army invests in school-age programs to reduce the conflict between mission requirements and parental responsibilities. You invest to enhance your child's growth, development and to promote school success.

School-Age Care fees are based on Total Family Income (not rank or grade).

Care during duty hours is work-related. Fees are based on your Family's ability to pay a fair share. The Army makes no profit, but funds the difference in what you pay and the actual cost of care.

What makes up Total Family Income (TFI)?

TFI is all earned income. DoD says these earnings include

- ✓ Wages, salaries, and tips
- ✓ Long-term disability benefits
- ✓ Allowances for housing and subsistence, which are based on grade and status
- ✓ The non-locality Basic Allowance for Housing with dependents (BAH RC/T) rates Chart*

o Note: This is different than the BAH amount shown on a Leave and Earnings Statement (LES). For a dual military Family, only the senior Soldier's BAH is included.

*o The Basic Allowance for Subsistence (BAS) Chart

- ✓ "In-kind" allowances - the value of meals (BAS) and lodging (BAH) if a parent lives on the installation and/or eats in dining facilities
- ✓ Specialty pay
- ✓ Voluntary salary deferrals

What is NOT counted in TFI?

- ⊘ Combat zone pay, hostile fire pay, and imminent danger pay
- ⊘ Variable and overseas housing allowances (VHA and OHA)
- ⊘ One-time military bonus
- ⊘ Family separation pay
- ⊘ Child support and/or alimony
- ⊘ Cost of living allowance (COLA)
- ⊘ Reimbursement for education expenses

How are School-Age fees determined?

DoD has established nine child care income categories based on TFI levels, with a fee range in each category. Your TFI determines your Family's unique income category (one through nine).

- The Army sets a standard fee in Category one.
- The Army sets standard fees for Categories two through nine in three bands.
- Army Standard Fees ensure equitable fees and greater predictability for Families when they relocate.

Your Family's fees depend on your income category and the fee band established for your installation. Daily and weekly fee rates are available.

Fees may be further discounted if you...

- ✓ Have more than one child enrolled
- ✓ Volunteer to work within Child, Youth & School Services
- ✓ Can document financial hardship
